

Core Knowledge

Rivers affect our lives in several different ways. They have been used as transport, energy creation and provide water. Often, they can flood in certain parts and cause damage and risks to life. Canals do not generally flood as they are manmade and can be controlled easier.

How do rivers affect our lives?

Year 5 - Autumn 2

Locational knowledge

The River Thames is a major River in England and it runs through the capital city, London.
The River Severn is the longest river in the United Kingdom.